HISTORY OF GRSA

The Georgia Recreational Sports Association (GRSA) was founded in August 2010.

Founding officers

Director:	Kacy Toberg (Georgia State University)
Director-Elect:	Andrew Hudgins (Georgia State University)
Treasurer:	Tara Parker (Kennesaw State University)
Secretary:	Nicholas Froelich (Emory University)

PURPOSE OF GRSA

The purpose of the Georgia Recreational Sports Association (GRSA) shall be to foster and enhance the quality of recreational sports programs in various settings throughout the state by means of professional meetings, publications, the dissemination of ideas, and the maintenance of policies consistent with the National Intramural-Recreational Sports Association (NIRSA) philosophy.

“Joining GRSA is a great way to get involved and support professional development within our state. We are excited about the future of GRSA and the endless opportunities it can provide for our members.” ~Kacy Toberg, GRSA Director
